

There Was an Old Woman Sold Puddings and Pies

There was an old woman
Sold puddings and pies.
She went to the mill
And dust blew in her eyes.

She has hot pies
And cold pies to sell.
Wherever she goes
You may follow her by the smell.