

There Was an Old Woman and Nothing She Had

There was an old woman
And nothing she had,
And so this old woman
Was said to be mad.

She'd nothing to eat,
She'd nothing to wear,
She'd nothing to lose,
She'd nothing to fear.

She'd nothing to ask
And nothing to give,
And when she did die
She'd nothing to leave.